DescriptionKick-off Meeting of WIRE project (UAB, Bellaterra, Spain, 30-31.01.2023)

Kick-off Meeting of the WIRE Project: Presentation of each participant, Introduction to the WIRE project, Project Management, Open discussions, Partners objectives and activities, Debate: presentation script and student's engagement, Dissemination & Communication, Ethics and legal issues, Open discussion: foreseen challenges and key action points for next period, etc. Agenda attached.

A fundamental element to start WIRE was to define the concepts shared by all the participants, establish the chronological frameworks (in the abstract in the DoA, specified in the KoM: Exile and Maquis in Spain; Civil War and Exile in Greece; Resistenza in Italy; resistance against the communist dictatorship in Poland). In addition to dealing with issues of Management, Ethics, Funding, Dissemination & Communication, each participant presented their case study to the others, their own educational and outreach activities, as well as their strategies for engaging students in the Memory Route. It was also possible to address the common framework and comment on the strategies of the different partners in the open discussion.

Therefore, during the KoM of the consortium, the different WPs and their budget were discussed, and the different coordinated campaigns were prepared to engage the students who will participate in the Memory Route. For this, a group of students from the UAB was invited to participate in all the activities of the conference. Minutes were taken, translated, revised and conserved by WIRE's PM.

Thus, different promotional videos were produced with representatives of all the Project sites, and the materials that would be used in the subsequent seminars with students in Poland, Italy, Spain and Greece were designed. The first seminars were held in March 2023 with students from the UAB and the University of Bologna; Due to university schedule problems, the seminars in Greece and Poland will take place in April 2023.

As we understand the seminars with students as activities deployed from the KoM and within the WP itself, the attendance lists are also kept for our records: University of Bologna, March 27, 26 participants (13 female, 13 male), Universitat Autònoma de Barcelona, March 28, 26 participants (13 female, 13 male), Jagiellonian University, April 4, 24 participants (18 female, 6 male) and University of Athens, April 4, 25 participants (15 female, 10 male).

See Annex 1 (Agenda) attached at the end of the document.

Women in Resistance

! DI COSA SI TRATTA?

Wire è un progetto europeo che ha l'obiettivo di analizzare e divulgare l'importanza di un evento determinante per l'Europa contemporanea - la resistenza antifascista - e di farlo in modo alternativo a quello convenzionale, affrontando l'importanza del soggetto femminile nel passato e nel presente.

PERCHÈ TI RIGUARDA? !

Una delle attività previste è la MEMORY ROUTE, ovvero un viaggio in quattro tappe (Grecia, Italia, Polonia e Spagna) offerto a studenti universitari (40 in tutto) per affrontare diversi aspetti del concetto di resistenza passata e presente e per sviluppare queste riflessioni in forme differenti: laboratori, podcast, serious games, memory walks.

About WIRE

When analysing collective narratives and imaginaries about resistance in Europe, one issue that stands out is the scant attention paid to the role of women. With notable exceptions, the Resistance appears as “something men do”, and women play a secondary and subsidiary role. The two-year EU funded WIRE project aims to place the role of women - both as agents and as victims - at the centre of present-day historical narratives of resistance in Europe, to help reshape historical memory and the values associated with it.

The WIRE consortium is formed by the Autonomous University of Barcelona (UAB - coordinator), and Memorial Democràtic (MEMO), from Spain; the Villa Decius Association (Vila Decius) from Poland; the Scuola di Pace di Monte Sole (Monte Sole), in Italy; and the Contemporary Social History Archives (ASKI), in Greece.

WIRE activities aim to link the academic knowledge on the role of women in resistance movements and the promotion of historical awareness among the public. Participants will identify women in various resistance movements in Europe and reconstruct their memories to make them publicly known.

Our final aim is to contribute to academic and public knowledge of the history and memory of women’s participation in anti-totalitarian resistance in Europe.

Italy. Memory Route in Monte Sole

The Memory Routers in Italy will delve deeper into the Monte Sole Massacre history, to identify issues and critical themes in relation to students' general knowledge of WWII and to the WWII history in their country of origin.

This research will be helped by Luca Baldissara, Maria Pia Casalena, Toni Rovatti, professors at Bologna University. They will lead the identification of the most crucial European history issues related to dictatorships in terms of resistance to oppression and women involvement in these groups and actions. Around April 25th (Italy Liberation Day), students will experience the memory path in Monte Sole Historical Park to learn how to “exploit”, in an educational way, the power of places and biographies. They will take part in commemorative events to bring the WIRE perspective into the official speeches.

Memory Route in Greece: Podcasts on female resistance

The students will search in the Repository to select and investigate 12 life stories of women who took part in the Resistance (3 from Greece, 3 from Spain, 3 from Italy and 3 from Poland).

They will then design 12 scenarios for podcasts of 10 minutes approximately each, according to the relevant guidelines given by ASKI. During their stay in Athens, they will record the audio files which will then be edited professionally.

Spain. Memory Route in Catalonia: Memory in the Walking

The students will engage in a journey through the spaces travelled and lived by different groups and typologies of female resistance in the context of the Spanish Civil War and the post-war period.

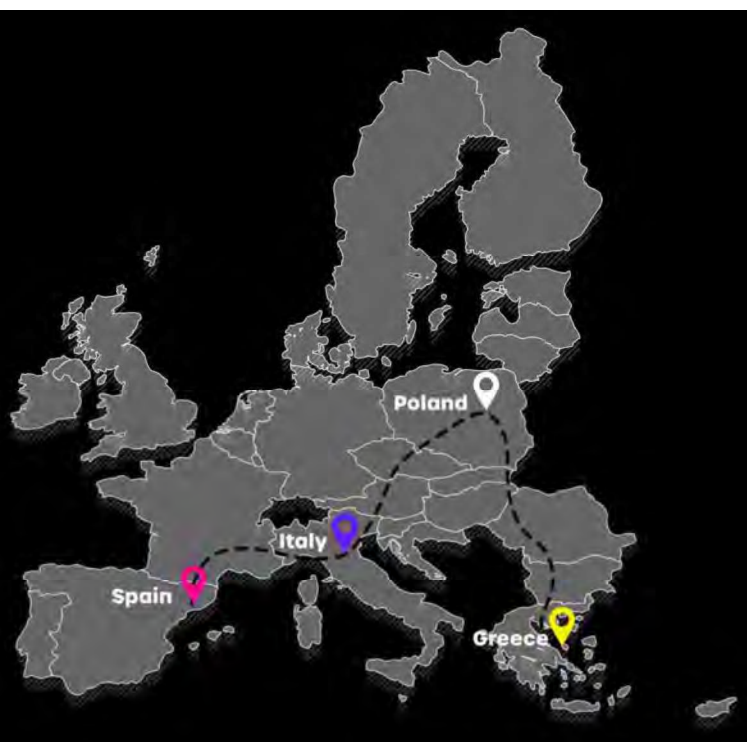

- Memory Walk #1. Ebro: Spaces of the Battle of the Ebro. A walk to the old town of Corbera d'Ebre and "Museum for 115 days" in the same town, on the resilient women in a geographical area that significantly suffered the ravages of Civil war.

- Memory Walk #2. Maqui: Maqui Route. A walk to the route of the maquis in the Vall d'en Bas. Walk#2 will show the collaboration and resistance networks of the female world within the context of the anti-Franco armed struggle. SOCLOSE digital tool for mapping will be used as a central methodology, in order to generate small personally created information pills linking geography and memory. Previous training documents will be sent to final users two weeks before the Activity.

- Memory Walk #3. Exile: Exile. Visit to the Exile Memorial Museum in La Jonquera. Walk#3 will to show women and their role of resistance in concentration camps in France, as well as their role in the French resistance during World War II.

Memory Route in Poland: Write the Game

The participants will retrieve at least nine stories of female members of the Resistance from the archives of three collaborating institutions: the Museum of WWII, the Polin Museum of the History of Polish Jews, and the Warsaw Rising Museum. They will then present the stories as part of a Memory Walk together with other participants of the project and general public in Villa Decius and around Krakow. The historical sites (Villa Decius, UNESCO City of Krakow) will work as a source of inspiration for the non-conventional educational tools and as a set for presenting the storylines of females in the Resistance.

Editorial work: Transcription, edition, and translation of the archival material into the nine storylines (in collaboration with the Repository).

Italy. Memory Route in Monte Sole

The Memory Routers in Italy will delve deeper into the Monte Sole Massacre history, to identify issues and critical themes in relation to their general knowledge of WWII and to the WWII history in their country of origin.

This research will be helped by Professor Luca Baldissara (Pisa University), one of the most relevant Italian historians in terms of Monte Sole research and WWII studies. He will lead the identification of the most crucial European history issues related to dictatorships in terms of resistance to oppression and women involvement in these groups and actions.

Around April 25th (Italy Liberation Day), students will experience the memory path in Monte Sole Historical Park to learn how to "exploit" in an educational way the power of places and biographies. They will take part in commemorative events to bring the WIRE perspective into the official speeches.

Memory Route in Greece: Podcasts on female resistance

The students will search in the Repository to select and investigate 12 life stories of women who took part in the Resistance (3 from Greece, 3 from Spain, 3 from Italy and 3 from Poland).

They will then design 12 scenarios for podcasts of 10 minutes approximately each, according to the relevant guidelines given by ASKI. During their stay in Athens, they will record the audio files which will then be edited professionally.

Spain. Memory Route in Catalonia: Memory in the Walking

The students will engage in a journey through the spaces travelled and lived by different groups and typologies of female resistance in the context of the Spanish Civil War and the post-war period.

Memory Walk #2. Maqui Route. A walk to the route of the maquis in the Vall d'en Bas. It will show the collaboration and resistance networks of the female world within the context of the anti-Franco armed struggle. SO-CLOSE digital tool for mapping will be used as a central methodology, to generate small personally created information pills linking geography and memory. Previous training documents will be sent to final users two weeks before the activity.

Memory Walk #3. Exile. Visit to the Exile Memorial Museum in La Jonquera. Walk#3 will show women and their role of resistance in concentration camps in France, as well as their role in the French resistance during World War II.

Memory Route in Poland: Write the Game

The students of the core group will share their experiences in the creation of narrative game scenarios with Memory Routers and will present the results of their work during the workshop at Villa Decius in 2023. The possibilities of using historical sites as an inspiration for a non-conventional educational tool will be discussed.

A 2 day-long workshop for Memory Routers from 4 countries will be organized to present the creation process of narrative game scenarios and the possible use of narrative games as an educational tool in the historical education. During the workshop, the participants will create 4 narrative game scenarios.

Scriptwriting workshops. 2 day-long international workshops to develop four narrative game scenarios. Presentation.

Online Publication. Presentation of the four narrative games scenarios and the narrative games as educational tool.

The Memory Route

Academic Conference and Final Event

The Academic Conference and the Final Event will take place in Barcelona as a double-purpose activity: an international academic activity to close and present the scientific results of WIRE, and a Final Event of the Memory Route in which the own results and conclusions from the students are presented in the framework of a debate with different actors (victims, groups memorials, policy makers, academics) and show the public some of the WIRE's outcomes.

Academic Conference

It will be the preliminary work for one of the most important and sustainable results of WIRE, the scientific publication of a brand-new interpretative proposal of the Resistance from the female experiences. The Conference will be open for all the academic and non-academic public and will count on the participation of the Memory Route participants.
